3 (Call to order of the Court.)

4 THE CLERK: Court is now in session. The Honorable
5 Dennis Montali presiding. Calling the matter of PG&E
6 Corporation. I'll bring counsel in now.

7 (Pause.)

8 THE COURT: All right, Mr. Tsekerides, good morning.
9 Nice to see you.

10 MR. TSEKERIDES: Good morning, Your Honor. It's been 11 a while. It's good to see you again.

12 THE COURT: All right, just --

13 MR. TSEKERIDES: I --

14 THE COURT: -- state your name for the record.

15 MR. TSEKERIDES: Sure.

16 THE COURT: And Mr. McDonald, good morning. State
17 your name after Mr. Tsekerides.

18 MR. TSEKERIDES: Judge, Theodore Tsekerides from Weil
19 Gotshal for the reorganized debtors.

20 MR. MCDONALD: Good morning, Your Honor. Hugh 21 McDonald from Pillsbury Winthrop Shaw Pittman for Consolidated 22 Edison Development.

23 THE COURT: Okay.

24 MR. MCDONALD: It's nice to see Your Honor again.
25 Since our last time, I've changed firms from Troutman Sanders

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 to Pillsbury. Nothing like changing firms during a pandemic.

2 THE COURT: There's nothing wrong with that. Nothing
3 wrong with Pillsbury.

4 So what's your pleasure? You gentlemen asked me to 5 have a status conference. I've had a great time reading lots 6 of stuff already, but what have you decided?

7 MR. TSEKERIDES: Well, yeah, sure. So and I think 8 we'll be quick, Your Honor. So we've conferred, and this is a 9 cure demand, as I'm sure you've gathered from the papers. And 10 there's one sort of legal issue, the ipso facto clause argument 11 that we've made that, in discussing with counsel, we felt that 12 that presented Your Honor with a discrete legal point that, if 13 you agreed with us, ConEd would have to sort of reassess if 14 they wanted to appeal or try to go forward on a different path.
15 And if you ruled in their favor, we'd have to reassess what 16 would be ahead of us on -- we know they want a lot of 17 discovery, and both expert and fact. That would become very 18 messy.

19 And we thought well, if we did this ipso facto clause 20 argument, we could put in a brief that -- we touched on it in 21 our papers, but we would put in a more fulsome brief. And 22 ConEd would put in a response, and we'd have a reply. And then 23 we were thinking some time -- we have a schedule that we 24 proposed. And we were thinking that we'd then have a hearing 25 on that point.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 And that ruling, one way or the other, would take us
2 in a certain direction. Again, if you ruled against us, ConEd 3 would want, as they've indicated to us, both fact and expert 4 discovery. We don't have to debate today whether we agree with 5 that, but we know that that would be coming, and that they'd 6 have very different arguments in that context.

7 So in order to try to avoid that and put before you 8 what we both agree is a purely legal issue, we wanted to 9 present that to the Court, see if you agreed, and if so, 10 present a fairly tight schedule. We would still be doing this 11 within the next couple of months -- to have that heard by the 12 Court in August.

13 THE COURT: I'll come back to Mr. McDonald in a 14 minute, but for openers, we're going to get rid of the June 15 15th hearing on this motion.

16 MR. TSEKERIDES: Oh yes, yes, I'm sorry.

17 THE COURT: Okay.

18 MR. TSEKERIDES: Yeah, that -- yes, absolutely.

19 THE COURT: Okay. And secondly, what -- it's 20 interesting that -- what you describe it, Mr. Tsekerides, 21 because as I read the -- I haven't read it -- one document I 22 did read only, is the unredacted version of your opening brief.
23 And it struck me, when I saw the ipso facto argument, I also 24 saw these other three categories, which I don't think we're 25 breaching any confidence to say it has to do with attorneys'

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 fees, default interest, and cost. And I'm wondering, well, 2 that seems like a legal question too. I mean, what is the fact 3 question about the applicability of provisions of documents?
4 Maybe Mr. McDonald can answer that more --

5 MR. TSEKERIDES: Yeah, that -- yeah.

6 THE COURT: I mean, I fully expected, until five 7 minutes ago, that I would hear from Mr. McDonald and then 8 whatever you had in mind for a cross-briefing on those legal 9 issues, not the very narrow one.

10 Mr. McDonald, isn't it a legal question beyond just 11 ipso facto?

12 MR. MCDONALD: It's a blended question, Your Honor, of 13 fact and law. The objection raises questions of fact as to 14 whether or not the damages were foreseeable at the time of the 15 parties' entering into the contract. And we believe they were 16 foreseeable, and therefore, our direct damages are recoverable.
17 The debtor has taken the position that they are were not, and 18 therefore, they're consequential.

19 So I think that does have an element of law for sure, 20 Your Honor, and applicable case law from the Ninth Circuit, but 21 also has a question of fact that we would like to take 22 discovery on, but we also have an expert witness we'd like to 23 proffer as part of that resolution or determination.

24 So we reached out, however, to the debtor and said we 25 do have, within your objection, questions of fact and law. But

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 we do view your initial objection as one purely as a question 2 of law. And that for efficiency's sake, so neither one of our 3 clients are expending additional funds briefing or taking 4 discovery on the other issues, we thought it was best to 5 proceed with this one particular issue up front. And then I 6 think, as Mr. Tsekerides said, if there's a determination one 7 way or the other, the other party will have to reassess the 8 claim and what their status is.

9 THE COURT: Well, no, no, I understand, particularly 10 if I agree with the debtor.

11 MR. MCDONALD: Right.

12 THE COURT: I mean, obviously, if I agree with the 13 debtor, we're done, and you can appeal.

14 MR. MCDONALD: I'm left with an appeal. And if you 15 agree with us, (indiscernible) --

16 THE COURT: But I don't -- I don't make my decisions 17 based upon an appeal. My decision is what I expect to be the 18 right result, and it's not on my list. Besides, Mr. McDonald, 19 just because you're reversed on appeal doesn't mean you're 20 wrong. But my point --

21 MR. MCDONALD: Your Honor, I completely respect that.

22 MR. TSEKERIDES: And Your Honor, we have discussed --

23 THE COURT: But my --

24 MR. TSEKERIDES: Oh, sorry. Go ahead.

25 THE COURT: But what I was going to say is that

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 what -- I won't say it troubles me. That's the wrong answer.
2 If you both think it's the right way to do it, I'm not going to 3 second guess you. But it struck me when you stated it, Mr.
4 Tsekerides, that it was so narrow that I wondered if it was 5 appropriate or efficient to go to the legal question. Because 6 it's sort of like, I would think -- let's use the example of 7 default interest. To me, again, you either owe the default 8 interest or you don't. I don't know why a legal consequence of 9 default interest is foreseeable. It may well be that there is 10 a reason why it is, and certainly, Mr. McDonald, if he believes 11 that that's the theory, I'm not going to take it away from him.

12 I would hate to -- I would hate to have the matter be 13 briefed very narrowly, only to -- let's assume I reject PG&E's 14 ipso facto theory. And I say okay, let's go to the next step.
15 Is there not still an efficiency in teeing up the legal 16 question? If the answer is no, then ConEd is entitled to 17 develop the record. Obviously, I can't take it away. It would 18 be worse -- worse than getting reversed on appeal is getting 19 reversed for granting a motion on a legal question when there's 20 a fact dispute.

21 MR. TSEKERIDES: That's a -- that's a fair point, Your 22 Honor. We had talked about it, and maybe as we talk through 23 this more we can make some modifications. I mean, I think the 24 way we had looked at it originally was the ipso facto, 25 definitely a legal issue. And then our -- the debtors'

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 position was look, we don't think that the damages you're 2 seeking are direct damages. But --

3 THE COURT: Yeah.

4 MR. TSEKERIDES: -- we recognize that California law 5 is mixed. And they can make an argument that, well, the 6 foreseeability point that Mr. McDonald made, and that could 7 lend itself to factual disputes.

8 Now, one thing we could do, and maybe even keeping 9 with the same schedule, although I'd want a little bit of time 10 to think about that, is to include the ipso facto and then make 11 a legal argument on these other points. And then Mr. McDonald 12 at ConEd can put in what essentially would be like a 56(f)
13 type -- not a pleading but in their response to that, say, 14 well, the ipso facto, clearly legal. These other points they 15 can explain why they're not legal and the facts that would 16 support them.

17 And then you could decide in that context whether to 18 address them, you're convinced by them that they're factual 19 disputes, or you're convinced by us that they're not and that 20 you can rule, as a matter of law, that they're not recoverable.
21 I mean, that's an option as well that sort of keeps in -- I 22 think is still sort of faithful to what we were thinking about 23 but then also provides the Court with an opportunity to address 24 other potentially purely legal issues.

25 THE COURT: Mr. McDonald -- by the way, Mr. McDonald,

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 I see you're turning your mic on and off, and that's fine. You
2 don't -- it's up to you. If you have a dog barking or a truck 3 going by, I appreciate you doing it, but you don't need to.

4 MR. MCDONALD: Yeah, I have two dogs, and we have 5 workers on the street (indiscernible) the street.

6 THE COURT: Oh, well, then by all means, we don't want 7 to hear your dogs. Okay, go ahead.

8 MR. MCDONALD: So Your Honor, I think what Mr.
9 Tsekerides is suggesting doesn't really work because we believe 10 there are actual issues of fact. They're taking the position 11 that, as far as PG&E is concerned, these damages were not 12 foreseeable at the time of contract.

13 Now, if you want to proceed down the route of briefing 14 this as a question of law, I think we would have to have an 15 underlying assumption that, assuming PG&E believed or was aware 16 of the potential damages in the financings, and thus the 17 damages that would result from their breach, as a matter of 18 law, are the damages then recoverable without having to get 19 into the factual issue itself.

20 THE COURT: Well --

21 MR. MCDONALD: And I think that would work because I 22 think otherwise, we're blending the two and putting in front of 23 you as to whether or not you believe there is a question of 24 fact.

25 THE COURT: Yeah, I understand but -- okay, let me --

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 again, Mr. Tsekerides, you made reference to ConEd's argument,
2 but I haven't read any of ConEd's arguments. I mean, I haven't 3 even been presented with them. They haven't been filed.
4 Right?

5 MR. TSEKERIDES: That's true. That's true. I mean, 6 that's true.

7 MR. MCDONALD: Your Honor -- and I think --

8 THE COURT: Okay. Hold on.

9 MR. MCDONALD: Sorry. I'm sorry. Go ahead, Your 10 Honor.

11 THE COURT: But what I was going to -- what I'm asking 12 you, Mr. McDonald, is is it a fact question that has to be 13 determined by external facts, or a fact question that can be 14 found in the documents? So that, for example, I'll give you a 15 hypothetical. If I have a contract with you that recites that 16 if you don't pay me, I'm going to suffer this other consequence 17 and, therefore, because I've got this other commitment and that 18 might cause me damages, that, to me, might be a fact question.
19 But it's a fact that you -- that we know from the documents.

20 If the -- if, on the other hand, the fact -- if the 21 foreseeability depends upon somebody else's testimony and 22 recollection, then I agree with you. But why don't the 23 documents themselves answer the question? And you can't -- you 24 don't -- you don't win a fact argument by an expert.

25 I mean, (audio interference) a legal malpractice case,

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 for example. If you get sued for legal malpractice, the expert 2 would say, based upon these facts, that was (audio 3 interference) come up to the standard of care. Maybe there's a 4 legal expert who can opine to say that PG&E is on the hook for 5 these consequential damages. But -- so I guess I'd need some 6 help from you to understand whether it really is a fact 7 question, or it's a fact question that can be determined within 8 the four corners of the documents.

9 MR. MCDONALD: Your Honor, the case law -- I don't 10 have all the cites in front of me. And I obviously would have 11 the opportunity to brief it to you.

12 THE COURT: Yeah.

13 MR. MCDONALD: A lot of the case law has looked to 14 what the knowledge of the parties were or is inferred to have 15 known at the time of the contract. So one of the cases it was 16 whether or not one of the parties was aware of a bonding issue 17 that the contractor had. And in one instance, the Ninth 18 Circuit held because there was no knowledge of the bonding 19 issue, the subsequent damages by breach were not recoverable 20 because they weren't direct --

21 THE COURT: Yeah.

22 MR. MCDONALD: -- and foreseeable.

23 THE COURT: But that -- but that --

24 MR. MCDONALD: Other cases --

25 THE COURT: -- but that goes back --

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 MR. MCDONALD: Yeah, other cases --

2 THE COURT: That goes back to the --

3 MR. MCDONALD: I'm sorry.

4 THE COURT: Go ahead. You finish, sorry.

5 MR. MCDONALD: Other cases following on from that have 6 held that in a situation where the parties were, in fact, aware 7 of the underlying situation with respect to a bonding issue for 8 the particular contractor at issue, it was foreseeable that a 9 breach would have -- would have an impact on the ability of 10 that entity to obtain further bonding. And therefore, those 11 damages were recoverable as direct damages.

12 So I see where Your Honor's coming from. And we have 13 pointed out to PG&E both what I would call contractual and 14 extra-contractual points at which -- where they had knowledge 15 of the financing and the terms of the finances as to general 16 project finances.

17 But I think it would be helpful, Your Honor, if we 18 could just step back one second. I could put it contextually 19 for you. ConEd has sixteen plants that supply renewable energy 20 to PG&E.

21 THE COURT: I'm aware of that.

22 MR. MCDONALD: Several of those plants were financed 23 through project financings (phonetic). One of the plants 24 that's at issue here was a -- was a refi takeout, a subsequent 25 financing of the project financing.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 The other two financings for what we call the 2 California One Holdings (phonetic) and California Two Holdings 3 (phonetic) cover roughly another six projects that each had 4 individual project financings via the structure. Those project 5 financings enabled the construction of these plants and were 6 geared towards the power purchase agreements that PG&E entered 7 into.

8 So PG&E would consent to the pledge of the PPA to the 9 finance parties. And then they would specifically acknowledge 10 the financings to the counterparties and agree that, in the 11 event of a default on the underlying documents, they would 12 continue to purchase the power pursuant to the terms of the 13 power purchase agreement.

14 THE COURT: And that's not an uncommon situation in 15 lots of contractual relationships. Like --

16 MR. MCDONALD: Sure.

17 THE COURT: -- quiet enjoyment agreement in a real 18 property lease. Right? The tenant --

19 MR. MCDONALD: Very much the same.

20 THE COURT: -- are agreeing that if the borrower of 21 the loan defaults -- but again, do you prove it by the 22 document, or do you prove it by some officer of the company 23 being deposed to say, by the way, did you know about this?
24 If it's --

25 MR. MCDONALD: Well --

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 THE COURT: -- the latter, then obviously you have a 2 fact question. If it's the former, then the document tells us 3 itself.

4 MR. MCDONALD: Yes, I said, Your Honor, there are 5 contractual issues, but then PG&E went before the public 6 utilities commission to have all of these agreements approved:
7 the power purchase agreement, the structure of the transaction.
8 The PUC, their regulator, was aware of the existence of the 9 financings. The financings were integral to the ability to 10 have these projects approved in the first instance by the PUC.

11 So there's a lot more to this, and I'm starting to get 12 pretty much far afield from your question, but suffice to say 13 there are contractual issues and extra-contractual, factual
14 issues that would need to be developed for us to properly 15 present the case, which is why I started from the beginning --

16 THE COURT: Okay.

17 MR. MCDONALD: -- by saying that in the event that 18 we'd want to look at a strict question of law, we would have to 19 have some factual assumptions for the purpose of making that 20 determination alone by Your Honor.

21 THE COURT: In my --

22 MR. MCDONALD: Otherwise we have fact and law.

23 THE COURT: -- in my hypothetical, again -- I have a 24 bad habit of thinking starting with a simple hypothetical and 25 then trying to apply it. So in my hypothetical, the tenant

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 moves into the office building and says to the landlord, I want
2 to stay here even if you get evicted because you get foreclosed 3 on by the lender. So the landlord says fine. Meet the lender.
4 You guys have a quiet enjoyment and whatever the other flipside 5 of --

6 MR. MCDONALD: SDNA, yes, subordination, non-7 disturbance agreement.

8 THE COURT: Yes, right. And so there you look at the 9 document, and it's clear on the face of the document that the 10 landlord -- that the lender knew that there was a tenant who 11 wanted certainty, and there was a tenant who needed -- wanted 12 to avoid getting bounced out by the default of the landlord.

13 Again, we're back to my example. If the way -- if the 14 way you prove it is by the guy who did the deal, deposed three 15 years later and says oh, yeah, I knew about that, that's one 16 thing. If, on the other hand, there was a regulatory body that 17 was involved, and there was a PUC decision or maybe it's the 18 San Francisco Rent Board that says yes, we'll approve this, 19 then that's different.

20 Look, I don't want to turn this into what it doesn't 21 have to be. I'll do it your way, unless you both can figure 22 out a way to broaden it. Here's what I'm concerned about. I'm 23 concerned about that if you tee up just a pure ipso facto 24 clause, I won't say it's an advisory opinion, but I know from 25 my own experience from my days on the Bankruptcy Appellate

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 Panel that appellate courts like to have a context. And if you 2 don't have -- if it's such a pure legal question, it's like why 3 are we even deciding this in the first place.

4 MR. TSEKERIDES: If I might, Your Honor. I mean, one 5 thing --

6 THE COURT: Yeah.

7 MR. TSEKERIDES: -- we could do, and this is sort of 8 on the spot, so forgive me for that, Mr. McDonald.

9 But one thing we could do is -- the way I'm -- as 10 you're talking, the way I'm thinking about this -- and I know 11 you're a fan of the hypotheticals. The way I've been thinking 12 about it in the meantime then is, well, it's not really unlike 13 if we were to move for summary judgment and, say, pure legal 14 issue on this, and we think you don't need any discovery on 15 these other ones, we should win anyway because we don't think 16 they're direct. The person opposing that has an obligation to 17 come forward and then identify, not only in responding to the 18 legal point but identify well, no, no, Judge, you can't -- you 19 can't grant summary judgment because we haven't had any 20 discovery. That's why I mentioned the 56(f) before.

21 THE COURT: Yeah, that's a good example.

22 MR. TSEKERIDES: And identify -- and identify what 23 those things would be. And so we could file a brief that laid 24 that out, and we've had separate proceedings with ConEd that 25 I'm not going to disclose on publicly. So obviously, I know

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 some of their points that you would then not know right now.

2 Then they could respond and then explain -- which they 3 already have to us -- and explain why they think you shouldn't 4 rule, and then you decide. And I think, as we're talking out 5 loud, it may make sense to do something like that because if 6 you were to rule against us on the ipso facto, I would imagine 7 that, when they ask for all this discovery, we're going to say 8 no, you don't need all that discovery, and you certainly don't 9 need an expert to tell us what they think the markets look like 10 or what the industry looks like. You have to show what we 11 knew.

12 So it may help to short circuit that, or at least 13 frame the issue so when you're reading the briefing you can 14 come to a conclusion. So I do throw that out there as maybe 15 it's a hybrid of what we came in on, but maybe that makes more 16 sense.

17 THE COURT: Well, I'm glad you like my hypotheticals
18 because I like them. When I read your brief, Mr. Tsekerides, 19 again, as I mentioned, I saw that you flagged the ipso facto 20 clause, but you also flagged the other issues. And your 21 explanation about the California Supreme Court cases and 22 something -- again, I didn't do any heavy duty thinking of it 23 because, had you not requested this status conference, and had 24 we had on calendar the hearing on the 15th of June on the 25 merits, I would have been much more prepared. Maybe not this

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 morning, but by the 15th, and I would have heard from the other 2 side.

3 But that's why you surprised me when you said, well, 4 this could be teed up solely on the ipso facto. And then you 5 surprised me further then saying and we could brief it some 6 more. And I'm going wait a minute; you don't need to brief it 7 anymore. You've already briefed it.

8 And so having said that I don't want to make the 9 mistake of having almost an abstract hypothetical for decision 10 purposes; I also don't want to put either side or both sides to 11 the expense of a very long effort to file a motion that's 12 doomed to fail because it does require a factual determination, 13 like, as you say, the summary judgment. I mean, I love -- I 14 love cross-summary judgment motions, but only if there are no 15 facts in dispute, material facts in dispute.

16 Well, I'm kind of at your disposition of what you 17 prefer. Do you want to -- do you two want to give it a little 18 more thought and think about whether you could agree on perhaps 19 the framework for some facts that are clearly not disputed?

20 Mr. McDonald, does that make sense, or do you want 21 to -- do you want to stick with the very narrow issue 22 regardless of -- and again, if you win it, you've got to go to 23 round 2. If you told me you know you're going to lose it, then 24 I'd say fine, let's brief it. But I don't know that you're 25 going to lose it. I have no idea.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 MR. MCDONALD: Let me think about it further, Your 2 Honor. I think if we went down the route that Mr. Tsekerides 3 was advocating, we'd have to put in declarations in support of 4 our pleadings. And we'd have to raise those issues, so I think 5 that that gets -- I think as Your Honor's said, that's a bit 6 far afield. It gets very expensive, and I think it would take 7 a lot more effort than simply briefing the insular legal issue.

8 THE COURT: Well, I assume -- there's no question, if 9 Mr. Tsekerides has a silver bullet whether it's ipso facto or 10 you filed it a day too late, he is entitled to make that 11 argument. And I (audio interference). And I'm not -- I'm not 12 a judge who says I like to have at least twenty issues to 13 decide if there's one issue that's case dispositive.

14 And so if he says I can win this on my ipso facto 15 clause argument, then I should let him do it, and I should tell 16 you there's your challenge and trust the two of you to know 17 that's the best thing to do. And I'm really not opposed to 18 doing it. This conversation has made me understand much more 19 thoroughly what I didn't understand.

20 Again, as I say, I fully thought what you'd be telling 21 me on your side, Mr. McDonald, was when you were going to file 22 your responsive brief and Mr. Tsekerides was going to tell me 23 when he'd file his reply, and I'd say okay, when we are going 24 to have the argument. But I'm up to -- I'm in your -- at your 25 disposal once again.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 MR. TSEKERIDES: I mean, I think -- if I may. I
2 apologize for interrupting. I think the cleanest thing -- I 3 mean, even though I -- you know how much I enjoy having the 4 dialogue with you, Your Honor, I think the cleanest thing might 5 be where we came in on. And again, I think you're a bit at a 6 disadvantage. We did, as I said, go through some sessions, so 7 I think if it's okay with you, if we stick to the way we were 8 thinking about it coming in --

9 THE COURT: Okay.

10 MR. TSEKERIDES: Because we don't know what's going to 11 happen coming out of that. And there -- but I do take Mr.
12 McDonald's point that if we did something like I was saying of 13 the 56(f), it's going to create a lot more work than both of us 14 were contemplating, because we thought this was an efficient 15 way to try to deal with a narrow issue. So if it's okay with 16 the Court, and I guess also with Mr. McDonald, if we stick to 17 what we were thinking about coming in, that might be the best 18 approach for everybody.

19 THE COURT: Okay. Mr. McDonald, pardon me for being 20 creative. I'll be (audio interference) creative and take your 21 proposal.

22 A couple of things. Mr. Tsekerides, you know from 23 prior PG&E matters there are some times when I get a lot of 24 paper. And I probably need to get all the backup papers in 25 hard copy unredacted.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 Mr. McDonald, if we're going to keep narrow on this 2 ipso facto, I take it all you need to do is file a responsive
3 legal argument. You don't have to put in more documents, do 4 you? Or do you?

5 MR. MCDONALD: I don't think so, Your Honor. I think 6 since it's a -- it's a question of law and of fact --

7 THE COURT: Yeah.

8 MR. MCDONALD: -- what (indiscernible) has already --

9 THE COURT: I mean, this --

10 MR. MCDONALD: -- submitted, it should be sufficient.

11 THE COURT: This is --

12 MR. TSEKERIDES: Yeah, well, hold on. Hold on one 13 second. No, we don't -- we actually discussed why what we 14 submitted is not sufficient, because we didn't fully brief the 15 ipso facto because we weren't briefing that as an issue.

16 MR. MCDONALD: No, no, Mr. Tsekerides, I was not -- I 17 was not implying --

18 MR. TSEKERIDES: Okay.

19 MR. MCDONALD: -- what --

20 MR. TSEKERIDES: All right.

21 MR. MCDONALD: No, I was saying by way of documents, 22 documents in evidence.

23 MR. TSEKERIDES: Oh, yeah, yeah, yeah.

24 MR. MCDONALD: What you have submitted in connection 25 with it be sufficient.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 MR. TSEKERIDES: Yeah, that's true.

2 MR. MCDONALD: I was not -- I was not saying that you 3 sufficiently briefed the issue.

4 MR. TSEKERIDES: Okay. Okay.

5 THE COURT: So --

6 MR. MCDONALD: Sorry, if I (indiscernible)
7 misunderstood.

8 MR. TSEKERIDES: Okay.

9 THE COURT: So let's assume -- let's move on. I take 10 both of your requests and word that you would both like to 11 proceed as you proposed at the outset, and anything I said is 12 off the table. The question then is -- Mr. Tsekerides, if 13 you -- you're essentially telling me you're going to re-brief 14 or more fully brief the ipso facto argument.

15 And to the extent that there are backup documents, I 16 just need to get hard copies of them. I can't -- I can't do a 17 300-page document on my little home laptop, so as you know -- 18 Mr. McDonald may not know -- in many other instances during the 19 PG&E case, your firm or your local counsel have -- they know 20 where to send complete copies to me so I can get them at home.
21 And I'd want to continue to do that.

22 But on the other hand, Mr. McDonald, I don't need to 23 ask you to send me a hard copy of a twenty-five page brief that 24 I can read on the screen or print, which is -- which is what 25 I've done today.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 So let's not worry about that. If you two gentlemen 2 have agreed on a timing for the briefs, let's put them on 3 the -- let's get out there and do it.

4 And you mentioned earlier, Mr. Tsekerides, this might 5 be argued in August so --

6 MR. TSEKERIDES: Right. Subject to your -- yeah, so 7 we were --

8 THE COURT: My schedule's pretty open these days.

9 MR. TSEKERIDES: Okay. So we were going to have the 10 reorganized debtors -- we're calling it an objection, filed on 11 June 18; the response from ConEd on July 16th; the reply from 12 the reorganized debtors on July 30th. And then either the week 13 of August 2nd or August 9th for the hearing is what we were 14 contemplating, based on your schedule.

15 THE COURT: So basically when we come to that hearing, 16 it'll just be oral argument on the brief -- on what's been 17 briefed, unless I do one of my famous docket (audio 18 interference) disposed of it ahead of time. Right?

19 MR. TSEKERIDES: That is correct.

20 THE COURT: So what happens to this -- what happens to 21 this twenty-nine page magnum opus that I read yesterday, and 22 all the backups that I might have to look at? I just -- I 23 don't have to even (audio interference)?

24 MR. TSEKERIDES: Well, for now, you don't have to 25 think about it. Some of those materials -- and we'll go back

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 over, because I think the documents that we're claiming have 2 the ipso facto clause in them we'll obviously have to put back 3 in front of you. You probably have it, but as you said, you 4 probably don't have it in hard copies, so we'll make those 5 arrangements.

6 THE COURT: Yeah, but do it (audio interference).
7 Again, I don't -- I tell you I prepare, but I don't prepare 8 weeks in advance, particularly in a lot of things. So I think 9 I'd rather wait until you file your brief on the 18th of June.
10 And then Mr. McDonald files his. And then I take a look at 11 those and anticipate if Mr. McDonald has second thoughts and 12 wants to include something.

13 Again, it's made a little more difficult because of 14 the redaction. And when things get redacted, we have to 15 respect your desire to redact them, but I still have to get 16 them. So I physically get them, and I get them in the 17 unredacted form, which is helpful. And so yesterday when I 18 read -- when I read the brief that you wrote, I could see what 19 was redacted and what wasn't, and that was very useful.

20 And obviously, it probably won't come to pass, but if 21 we ever -- we do have oral argument, I got to make sure we 22 don't blow the confidentiality by making reference to those.
23 It sounds like that isn't the case on a pure legal argument.
24 So --

25 MR. MCDONALD: Your Honor, if I could just address

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 that briefly, Your Honor. The documents at issue are very 2 voluminous, and they contain sensitive commercial information
3 for both ConEd and PG&E.

4 THE COURT: Yeah, I'm aware of that.

5 MR. MCDONALD: Yeah. So what I think might be the 6 easiest way for us to proceed is when Mr. Tsekerides puts in 7 his brief, it's just to have the relevant excerpts of the PPAs 8 included as the exhibit, without the entire documents at issue, 9 that Your Honor may see at least the relevant provisions that 10 he is arguing with respect -- arguing about with respect to 11 ispo facto. Therefore, I don't have to put in anything to 12 supplement that. And you will have just a snapshot of what 13 we're -- the provisions that are at issue for that legal 14 argument.

15 THE COURT: Well, but I don't mind. Listen, I'm 16 not -- there are more exciting things to do in life than read 17 power purchase agreements, but I don't mind looking at the 18 document to see it in context. The funny thing for me 19 personally that neither of you were involved in PG&E 1, but in 20 PG&E 1, I got to be very familiar with a lot of PPAs early in 21 the case. But in PG&E 2, I think this is the first time we've 22 ever had even to think about it.

23 So I mean, you know, Mr. Tsekerides, when you and I 24 first met, I thought you were going to have all sorts of 25 executory contract motions for me like we had in PG&E 1, which

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 was probably the heaviest duty burden in the first part of that 2 first case, but not in this case. So for both of you -- 3 (indiscernible) --

4 MR. TSEKERIDES: Why don't we -- why don't we see how 5 that -- yeah. Let's see how that goes.

6 THE COURT: Yeah. Don't worry about copies of 7 anything. If I want -- let me rephrase. Mr. Tsekerides, you 8 have already put in the record -- partly redacted, partly not - 9 - much of your supporting -- some of your supporting documents.
10 You should preserve the redaction that you and ConEd think are 11 important. And don't worry about me.

12 And when I see your brief, and maybe again when Mr.
13 McDonald files his, maybe I'll want to see something more, 14 maybe not. Again, you're both experienced brief writers. But 15 sometimes when a brief includes one sentence, I've found it a 16 little more helpful to go read the next sentence or the next 17 sentence in the backup.

18 Ms. Parada, do we have PG&E calendars for our -- 19 because I want to set this separately but on a PG&E day 20 perhaps, for the first two weeks of August?

21 THE CLERK: August 10th is a regular -- is a day
22 reserved for PG&E at 10 o'clock.

23 THE COURT: So that would be 10 o'clock. So if I put 24 these folks on, say, at 11 o'clock and set aside an hour, that 25 would work.

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 Does that date work for both of you?

2 MR. TSEKERIDES: It does for me.

3 MR. MCDONALD: Yes, Your Honor.

4 MR. TSEKERIDES: Okay.

5 MR. MCDONALD: Works for me as well, your Honor.

6 THE COURT: I'm sorry? Mr. McDonald, yes?

7 MR. MCDONALD: Yes. Yes.

8 THE COURT: Okay. And Mr. Tsekerides?

9 MR. TSEKERIDES: It does. Thank you.

10 THE COURT: Okay, so Ms. Parada, we're going to take 11 off calendar the ConEd claim -- cure claim motion for June 15.
12 We will --

13 Mr. Tsekerides, why don't you -- why don't you just 14 file a stipulation with Mr. McDonald that just recites these 15 dates? We can put them in the minutes, but I'd rather have it 16 on a document that the debtors and ConEd simply agree to the 17 following briefing schedule for the hearing on the portion of 18 the objection to the cure amount. Just a one-liner.

19 MR. TSEKERIDES: Yeah, will do.

20 THE COURT: So the public document reflects it because 21 sometimes with the omnibus objections that are coming up on the 22 PG&E documents, they're up there, they're in the multiples, 23 tens and twenties and thirties. And this is a much more 24 discrete -- obviously at the moment, a twelve-million-dollar
25 question. So --

PG&E Corporation, et al.

1 MR. TSEKERIDES: Right. Okay, will do. We'll take 2 care of that.

3 THE COURT: Okay. We done?

4 MR. TSEKERIDES: Yeah.

5 MR. MCDONALD: And just one more thing. Mr.
6 Tsekerides, I know we've engaged in informal discovery, 7 provided a lot of documents to you. If you feel you need any 8 further copies of any of the PPAs or any of the other 9 documents, please let us know. And we'll try to get them to 10 you as soon as possible.

11 MR. TSEKERIDES: Okay. Yeah, appreciate it. Thank 12 you.

13 I think that's it, Your Honor.

14 MR. MCDONALD: Your Honor -- Your Honor, it was great 15 to see you again. Thank you for your time.

16 THE COURT: Okay. Thank you. Good to see you all.
17 Thank you all. I will conclude the hearing.

18 Thank you, Ms. Parada and Ms. Thomas, and both counsel 19 sign off. Have a nice day -- good weekend.

20 MR. TSEKERIDES: Thank you. All right.

21 MR. MCDONALD: You too.
